Addendum to U.S. Youth Soccer Region III Premier League Rules:

The information provided is to allow our member teams to understand how recent decisions of the committee affect the interpretation of our rules.

1. June 26, 2004. Policy altered by rule change. Please refer to Section 3 – Operational Procedures 6) Standings. May, 2004. Breaking more than a two way tie: State representatives of two states asked the committee to review the rules and decide how a three way tie should be broken. After a review of the tie breaking rules the committee's decision was that since there was no specific instruction as to the procedure to break a three way tie after one team was eliminated by using the tie breaker rules the proper process was to continue down the list of tie breaker rules until one of the two remaining teams was eliminated. This is the different from our U.S. Youth Soccer Region III Tournament Rule procedure where after one team is eliminated from a three way tie the proper procedure is to start over in the list of tie breakers. We will continue to apply this procedure until the committee sees fit to alter the rule.
2. May, 2004. Effect of automatic suspensions earned from ejections in non-Premier League matches: The situation existed where a player(s) were ejected in a local U.S Youth Soccer sanctioned invitational tournament final match played and did not sit out from the next match played which was a Premier League match. The committee researched U.S Youth Soccer playing rules, FIFA documentation, and USSF memorandum concerning the applicability of automatic suspensions as a result of an ejection from a match. It was the committee's interpretation based on the review of the above mentioned sources that when a player is unable to serve an automatic suspension in the competition where the automatic suspension was earned, the 'governing body' of the next competition determines whether or not the automatic suspension carries into the next competition. Where in this case the 'governing body' is the Premier League committee and beholden to rules of the league and the rules of the league are silent as to the applicability of an automatic suspension earned in a non-Premier League competition; it is interpreted that an automatic suspension earned in a non-Premier League competition does not carry forward to a Premier League competition. Further, an automatic suspension resulting from an ejection from a Premier League match can only be served in Premier League competition unless it is served in the player's next State Cup or Regional Cup match if the Cup match is the next match played. Recognizing that the Premier League cannot mandate that the player serve the automatic suspension in his first State or Regional Cup match, only that the Premier League will recognize, for our purposes, that a sanctioned player has served the automatic suspension in the first match of a State or Regional Cup competition. It should be noted that the automatic suspension will only be considered to have been served in matches actually played by the team to which the player in question is currently rostered. We will continue to apply this procedure until the committee sees fit to alter the rule. Added June 30, 2005: Please note that the statement "Recognizing that the Premier League cannot mandate that the player serve the automatic suspension in his first State or Regional Cup match" is in error. The National State Association Presidents of US Youth Soccer Region III have empowered the Region III Premier League to enforce Section 7, Ejections and Discipline, 1) Ejections and Removals, a) Any player ejected from a R3PL match will be suspended from their next scheduled R3PL match. If the R3PL season has ended, they will be suspended from their next scheduled State or National Cup competition, which ever comes first.

1. TEAM ELIGIBILITY:

After a review of the testimony and the documentation, the R3PL Discipline and Protest Committee has determined the Western Sub-

Region Director, Jesse Harrell does not have the authority under R3PL rules to declare this team ineligible for future R3PL play. This authority is vested with the US Youth Soccer Region III Premier League Committee, as stated in the R3PL Rules, League Policy: Teams (par.3).

Therefore, the Dallas Sting '88 team is eligible to compete in the R3PL next season, unless further action is taken in accordance with R3PL rules to consider this team ineligible.

2. TEAM FINE:

The R3PL Discipline & Protest Committee voted unanimously to enforce R3PL rules regarding forfeits and fines (Section 4. Matches 2 b & 2 c), and to uphold the $1200 fine to this team. It is the opinion of this committee that it is crucial to the continued success of the R3PL for the league to have the authority and ability to fine those teams for not showing up to scheduled matches.

Teams participating in the R3PL travel hundreds of miles and journey for hours to competitions, and there has to be the confidence by those traveling teams their opponent will be there for the scheduled competition.

“Train wrecks” and other disastrous types of events could provide exceptions to the rule and may be considered as justifiable reasons for forfeiting scheduled matches. However, the R3PL does not have the wherewithal to regularly review doctor’s excuses, medical records, or school reports to determine the competitive level of a team or it’s ability to compete at a scheduled competition.

While the Dallas Sting '88 team certainly had it’s share of accidents, injuries, and illness during the season, and it does not appear they intentionally forfeited these matches, a forfeit is still a forfeit, and the R3PL rules are absolutely clear on the issue of fines and forfeits.

Therefore, the $1200 fine to the Dallas Sting '88 team is within the R3PL rules and shall remain in effect.
